

Dear members of the COST ACTION 17112.: PROEURODILINET

We are pleased to announce the Short-Term Scientific Missions (STSM), COST ACTION 17-112 for the granted year:

ZEBRAFISH AS A MODEL FOR DILI

*Type of Mission: Basic

*Location: Bilkent University, Ankara, Turkey

*Responsible: Dr. Ozlen Konu, Department of Molecular Biology and Genetics; konu@fen.bilkent.edu.tr

*Dates: Fall 2019

ADVANCED PHYSICAL METHODS IN HEPATOTOXICITY STUDIES

*Type of Mission: Basic

*Location: Institute of Physics, Prague, Czech Republic

*Responsible: Dr. Oleg Lunov, lunov@fzu.cz

*Dates: Fall 2019

INTERNAL MEDICINE WARD, OUTPATIENTS HEPATOLOGY CLINIC, LIVER ULTRASOUND AND FIBROSCAN

*Type of Mission: Clinical

*Location: University of Palermo, Palermo, Italy

*Responsible: Dr. Anna Licata, Internal Medicine and Hepatology, DIBIMIS anna.licata@unipa.it

*Dates: early Fall 2019

ANALYSIS OF DILI IN PATIENTS USING MRS

*Type of Mission: Clinical

*Location: Nottingham University, Nottingham, UK

*Responsible: Dr. Stephen Bawden, Department of Molecular Biology and Genetics;
Stephen.Bawden@nottingham.ac.uk

*Dates: Fall 2019

This email is an open call to the Action participants to inform potential COST members that would like to participate in any of these STSMs. Those trainees that want to apply for a COST financial support, and based on the COST rules for STSM (attached), should send the following documents:

- a. Short CV (max. 1 page) including date of birth, years of training and current position.
- b. Full work plan (max. 2 pages, single space and Times New Roman 12p)
- c. List of relevant publications (max. 1 page).
- d. Signed statement from Host Institution agreeing hosting the mission.
- e. STSM application form downloaded from the online registration system <https://e-services.cost.eu/stsm>

The submission will be made to the STSM Coordinator, Javier Cubero (fcubero@ucm.es)

Please note that you have until July 26th, to send your application.

Further information can be found in the following link to Cost Vademecum web (pages 34-35): <https://www.cost.eu/wp-content/uploads/2019/05/Vademecum-May-2019.pdf>

Kind regards,

Scientific Manager